Introduction

Mechanical growth factor(MGF) is a newly discovered growth factor, which is produced by the splicing variation of Igf-1 gene and has strong synthesis ability. It can promote local muscle growth, improve the pump feeling during training, accelerate fat burning, make muscles more plump, and can Promotes repair of nerve damage. Use with IGTROPURE for better results. It is suitable for muscle building and fat reduction. After training, the left and right sides are injected respectively.

Function

What makes MGF special is its unique role in muscle growth. MGF has the ability to induce wasted tissue growth and improvement by activating muscle stem cells and increasing the upregulation of protein synthesis, a unique ability to rapidly enhance recovery and accelerate muscle growth.
